

The Joy Latta Scholarship for Technical Colleges and Trade Schools

*Awarded at the 47th Annual South Carolina International Trade Conference
October 19th - 21st, 2020 Gaillard Convention Center, Charleston, South Carolina*

ABOUT THE SCHOLARSHIP

Commencing in 2020, the S.C. International Trade Conference will present a scholarship in honor of Joy Latta, who has served on the Trade Conference Board of Directors for 23 years. Joy will soon be retiring after serving as the Demand Process Manager at Selee Corporation for nearly 33 years in Hendersonville, North Carolina. The Joy Latta Scholarship will dedicate funds to those students pursuing education and skills from technical colleges and trade schools.

An applicant must be currently enrolled in an accredited South Carolina Trade or Technical School with a minimum 3.0 overall GPA. Applicants must also be: (1) a S.C. resident attending any trade school or technical college, or (2) attending any South Carolina trade school or technical college regardless of residency, and (3) focus of study in International Trade, Supply Chain Management or relevant skilled trade.

The selection and ranking criteria, in order of importance, are:

- Proven interest or experience in International Trade, Supply Chain Management or Business related area, to include work or volunteer experience;
- Current academic standing and performance minimum overall 3.0 GPA
- Narrative and letter of recommendation; and
- Honors and extracurricular activities.

Beyond this scholarship offer, students are also invited to attend the Conference's daily business sessions at no charge. These sessions are planned to be held at the Gaillard Convention Center, downtown Charleston. Each session will be led by professionals who are confronted daily by a variety of international trade and logistics issues. The program agenda and other information can be found at: <http://www.scitc.org>. If you are interested in attending, please contact the SCITC Scholarship chairperson at scholarships@scitc.org.

This application is available on the web at www.scitc.org
